Town digs out

They say it never rains but it pours. Well, town crews must have had the same sentiments about the weekend in Drayton Valley, as they worked to clear snow-clogged main streets and residential routes following this winter's first major snowfall. The town had eight trucks working 24 hours a day to remove the downtown, noted development officer Al Cheesterman Monday, and it's proving to be an expensive process. The budget for this year's snow removal program was set at $60,000, he said, and the work this past weekend has already used about $17,000 from the fund. "I hope we don't have any more weekends like the one we've just been through," he added. He doesn't have figures to indicate just how much snow fell locally, but the consistent and fairly constant downpour which began Friday night made getting around in Drayton Valley an interesting proposition. Mr. Cheesterman said the biggest problem crews faced, in addition to snow that just wouldn't quit coming down, was breakdowns in equipment which forced some delays in the clearing operations. The town had good co-operation from motorists in the marked snow removal areas, he added, as people refrained from parking on these routes to assist in the clean-up. "We hope to have all the major routes in town opened up as of 10 p.m. Monday," Mr. Cheesterman noted. His main words of advice for motorists—have patience.

Town misses that $466,000 in unpaid taxes

By Maekie Dick
Council says it can see light at the end of the tunnel in the town's bid to shake the financial problems which plagued day-to-day operations for much of last year, but the situation could look a lot brighter if some local taxpayers would pay their 1981 property taxes. A review of the town's financial picture at last week's regular council meeting allowed Mayor Bob McPherson to express cautious optimism that various restraint programs, and control on expenditures, will be "leading us in the right direction," he stated. "We've got control on our expenditures, and the financial interests of the town are being watched by council and the staff," he added. "Financially we did go downhill, but I think it's bottomed out and we're on up again at the bottom of the hole." It will take continued control to uphold and improve this position, Mayor McPherson noted. "We must maintain the strictest controls, because if things loosen up we could be in trouble all over again." The town's administration and council are continuing work on the 1982 budget, under guidelines of a 15 per cent increase in operating expenditures. One area where council would like to encourage continued support from taxpayers is to payment of property taxes. Figures released from the town office last week indicate that as of Dec. 31, 1981, about $466,000 of the estimated $524,000 tax has been unpaid. In December of the previous year, the town had only $183,000 of its estimated $2 million tax base collected, according to administrator Maekie Dick. The tax arrears have left the town with less operating capital than its projected expenditures, Mayor McPherson noted. Preliminary figures point to the town receiving about $100,000 from this month for its estimated $2 million tax base, he added, but if those months aren't forthcoming, the town may have to look at short-term borrowing. The council means the town is going to dig down on tax penalties, as evidenced at last week's meeting when an application by one local taxpayer for a tax abatement for a two-day period was turned down. Provincial park proposed

Public meetings set for Buck Lake

By Maekie Dick
A series of meetings are being planned for the end of January which will allow for public input in the formation of a provincial park in the Buck Lake area. At present, there are approximately 600 acres of land under study for the proposed park. This includes 160 acres of Crown land, some private property and 98.5 acres of government-owned land near Calhoun Bay on Buck Lake. Calhoun Bay has been used as a recreation area for the past 50 years. It was only when the property in Calhoun Bay was threatened with subdivision in the early 1970s that the park department stepped in and purchased the land. Since that time the property has been held in reserve with the park department retaining administrative control of the 98.5 acres around Calhoun Bay. According to William J. Porter, chairman of the Buck Lake management committee, the park department has always been to develop a park in the area. He added that before a park can be implemented it must first be approved in design and for funding. The park then needs an order in council from the provincial government. The proposed park is still in the first phase of the study which is to decide on a concept alternative. This stage is expected to be completed prior to April 1, said Mr. Porter. It is during this planning phase that the facilities and size of the park will be under discussion. The Buck Lake management committee is hoping to gain input through the public meetings which will be held on Jan. 25 in Buck Lake and Jan. 26 in Edmonton. There will be two sessions in Buck Lake, one during the afternoon from 1 to 4 p.m. and the other one in the evening from 6 to 10 p.m. Consultants for the management committee will make their study and site analysis available for the public to view. People can then discuss the proposed park and comment.

Local doctors up office charges

By Maekie Dick
The new over-the-counter drugs to drive 161 patients to 50.5 per cent, over the cost the services normally covered by provincial Health Care, has been leading to larger charges since his January 1. The local residents may have to worry about direct billing for a while, according to a survey conducted by the Western Review last week. To collect the three clinics in town, then 18 local doctors provide medical services from the end of the day to the day. There is no direct billing under way in Drayton Valley. "There is, however, an increased fear of making that office visit as doctors have raised the standard $2 charge from last year," said Dr. Porter. As of last Friday, the fee from the Western Medical Clinic stands at the $15 bill—and a spokesman for the entire said this charge would be applied to Jan. 15 to a new rate of $5. The Medical Centre was also charging the old $8 up to Jan. 4, a spokesman noted, but a new rate of $5 for an office visit is now in effect. As of Jan. 1, the fee for a visit to the Western Medical Clinic doubled to $20, Dr. Anthony Freeman said. It's unlikely local doctors will implement direct billing before March of this year, as they won't know how before this time what the government has imposed in the way of a new fee schedule. Freeman warned the extra billing at this point will not affect those "who have no insurance and those who, such as senior citizens and those who can't afford the new rates. As the Friends of Medicine, an Edmonton-based consumer group opposed to direct billing, has advised patients through media reports to settle the insurance, but the entire said that their physicians' bills medical services are covered.

Charges laid in fatal crash

Breton RCMP laid six charges against a 35-year-old woman who was involved in a two-vehicle collision on Nov. 24 which resulted in the death of one Drayton Valley man and injuries to three others.

Lynda Jones appeared in Breton court on Dec. 13 and was charged with one count of criminal negligence of a motor vehicle causing death, three charges of criminal negligence of a motor vehicle causing bodily harm, one charge of driving while impaired and one charge of driving over 30.

The accident occurred at the intersection of Highway 12 and Boundary road 110 when Mr. Jones's vehicle collided with one containing four Drayton Valley men.

Donald Blair, 47, of Drayton Valley, was killed in the accident while the three other passengers, Dennis McGraw, 33, of Hinton and Lynda McGraw, 33, of Hinton, were injured.

Mr. Jones will return to Breton court on Jan. 13 to enter her plea.

RCMP Investigate death

Stony Plain RCMP are continuing an investigation into the death of a 69-year-old Highway woman Sunday, after the vehicle she was travelling in with her husband became stuck in a roadside ditch at the Duffield area.

Police report Jean Bley had stayed behind in the car while her husband walked to find a tow truck, after the vehicle entered the ditch at around 1 a.m. on Jan. 10.

She was gone for about an hour, but when he returned Mrs. Bley's daughter Carol Bley lives in Drayton Valley.

Police say she apparently walked from the car heading west, and Constable Robert Barkman said she evident-ly missed a turnoff to the route that would have taken her to the Highway General Store.

Her body was discovered in a field, reportedly three kilometers from the car, at about noon on Sunday.

Mrs. Bley's daughter Carol Bley lives in Drayton Valley.

Local councillor named to committee

By Monica Dick
and Suzanne Crowley
A Drayton Valley councillor will head the committee to set up various groups under the new Township Regional Planning Commission, to prepare member municipalities for their involvement in the new planning zone which came into effect Jan. 1.

Councillor Charlie Miner was selected as committee chairman at a meeting held in Edmonton last week, and will spend the next few weeks contacting municipal representatives to determine who will participate in proposed committees within the YRPC.

"I hope to prepare a date of officers at the inaugural meeting of the Commission, which will be held at the Drayton Valley Curling Centre on Tuesday, Jan. 26," he said. "We hope to see a structure plan as soon as the commission is operational," said councillor Miner.

Although the commission will prove beneficial in many ways, there will still be problems with its structure. "Our biggest concern is the site of the commission, the area which is covered," said councillor Miner.

He went on to say that the Township Regional Planning Commission covers a "vast and very diversified area." Industries within the region range from farming to lumbering to the petro-chemical industry.

"I hope this settles the matter over the picking of the site," he said.

Former resident returns to manage Beehive

By Suzanne Crowley
After 22 years and with 10 years of experience throughout the world, Carol Brack, a former Rocky Mountain resident, returned to Drayton Valley to begin her job as executive manager with the local association for the developmentally handicapped.

In addition to her duties as executive manager she is also responsible as the chief reporting officer to the board of the developmentally handicapped. Ms. Brack, who is in charge of the programming and activities for her handicapped workshop and bottle depot, as well as both residences, considers the job challenging as the Drayton Valley program is still relatively new.

In the short time it has been in place there has been an incredible amount of work done, she said. She added that it is exciting to be in a job where something is happening.

Our Opinions

Mad as hell

When local librarian Lois Peterson called our office last week about her regular column in the Western Review, called Between the Covers, she wasn't too pleased about a situation developing in town concerning the Library Board's decision in December to raise fees for overdue books. It seems a lot of folks weren't too thrilled with the prospect of paying 25 cents per day for late books—in fact, the library staff took so much abuse from some of these patrons that the move has been temporarily shelved, pending the results of a questionnaire the Board is circulating.

This week's Between the Covers column, appearing on page 13, outlines the Board's philosophy for upping the rates. Costs have increased to the point where tracking down these overdue books—via mailed notices and sometimes even long-distance phone calls—are cutting into an already slim budget. The library would dearly like to see these funds channelled into other areas, such as more new materials for the community at large.

Drayton Valley Council faced a similar situation at last week's regular meeting, when approached by a local taxpayer concerning a penalty for late property taxes. But my taxes were only two days overdue. The man said in a letter to council, and you and the local newspaper didn't tell me I'd be paying an 18 per cent penalty on the year's taxes instead of just an 18 per cent fine. Therefore, his calculation of a $150 penalty for the two days became the rule book of a $276 payment.

We may have fooled by not informing the information that the penalty was on the year's taxes, and we apologize for that error. But I have only three little words to use for people who are late with payments, and then cry the blues to the town and other services expecting them to bend over backwards to accommodate their excuse: want a hunk?

I really get irate when told of situations like "Mary" at the library, who angrily informed the library staff after she'd tallied up her $17 fine for weeks of overdue books that she'd start her own service if they were going to pick on her like that.

I get even madder when I hear the local taxpayer had the advantages of having a late tax notice in the first place—the town was a little behind in getting them out. He also had the further advantage of having a full 40 days to pay his taxes, and that's 10 days more than the deadline required under our province's Municipal Government Act.

Add to this the fact the town has nearly $485,000 unpaid of its $2.3 million tax base—compared to the $153,000 of the $2 million tax base outstanding to December of 1981—means it desperately needs operational costs. Otherwise, it's going to face borrowing these dollars at today's high interest rates.

There aren't too many agencies around nowadays that do not have penalties for late payments—just ask anyone who has ever missed a payment on a charge card. It boggles the mind how people can logically determine the town and its services should be the exception to this rule.

Perspectives

By Roxanne Greenley

by roads, drifting snow and below freezing temperatures, we are finally starting to get some typical January weather.

I was beginning to get rather concerned considering the unseasonably warm weather of the previous few winters. If the weather continued this way I might lend even some credence to the scientists' predictions of a warming trend in the earth's stratosphere.

According to an article in the Calgary Herald, this would mean a global rise in temperature, with Calgary being one of the country's most affected.

The article went on to say that during the 21st century the climate throughout the country should increase by several degrees. Calgary is expected to have a climate similar to Denver or Vancouver, and will become the new vacation spot with weather to rival that found in southern California.

One can only hope that such a thing would never happen. The tourist industry would be completely shattered for who would want to go to a country with sunbaked and hot weather?

Canada would no longer be the "Great White North," made famous or infamous by SCTV's Honey Doo and Bob McKenzie.

A change in climate would also mean that visiting tourists could no longer make disparaging remarks about cold Canadian winters. Besides that, the sunbaked winters would clash with the typical Canadian decor. After all, who needs a Hawaii of the north?

Reeve looks ahead to 1982 work

Letters

As another year commences I express to each and every one of you, the residents and taxpayers of the County of Parkland, my hope that 1982 will be a rewarding and successful year. May many of your hopes and dreams be realized.

In the County of Parkland, 1981 certainly was a varied year. We had some high and low spots. A beautiful summer and fall enabled our farmers to harvest a better than average crop, under ideal conditions. However, depressed prices continue to plague the farming industry, and the cost-price squeeze gets more difficult all the time.

The good weather allowed us to complete a major portion of the planned road program. We were very disappointed that a couple of contractors let us down badly, in the time involved in completing their projects. The cilling and paving projects, however, went very well.

1981 was to become our own subcommittee approving the new assessment. To date, we have been very positive. With the very limited subcommittee it was an ideal time to start to believe the supply of country residential parcels is adequate, and I would expect very few requests for subdivisions.

In an effort to facilitate development and still maintain or improve development control, a licensing bylaw has been prepared. We received very little input on the first advertising, but implementation has been delayed until April 1 so we may obtain your further input, ideas and concerns.

School construction continues to be a major problem and cost factor. The new decentralized schools at May Lake, Humberly and Devlin 3 are functioning well and proving to be workable. They also appear to be helping develop a sense of community in the region in which they are being constructed.

The new vocational high school at Spruce Grove finally opened. There is still some work to be completed and problems to be resolved, but it is functioning well and providing a broader range of educational opportunity. The high cost of providing educational services, and the increasing level of local costs for school construction are becoming very serious problems.

The provincial share of education financing decreases each year, so we will have to be very cost conscious in the way we plan, and then hope the province accept responsibility to a greater degree.

A general assessment, as required by legislation, is being done. The new assessment will be in use until 1983. To date, we have been very positive. With the very limited subcommittee it was an ideal time to start to believe the supply of country residential parcels is adequate, and I would expect very few requests for subdivisions.

The low point of the year was the government decision to grant Edmonton a large portion of its required annexation. To satisfy the age and grand, without a demonstrated need of one municipality at the expense of another is a difficult decision to accept. However, it could have been worse, and we have accepted the decision. We are understanding to make the transition as smooth as possible. To fragments would only hurt people who didn't want to be annexed in the first place and are suffering enough already.

It is interesting to note that the Edmonton consultants who landed at the hearings that taxes would go up, in the annexed areas, are now suggesting taxes will have to go up because of the annexation. I couldn't believe some of the television interviews recently! It is interesting to note that the Edmonton consultants who landed at the hearings that taxes would go up, in the annexed areas, are now suggesting taxes will have to go up because of the

Flyers lose 4-3 in overtime

By Chris Shannahan
Flyers took a tough 4-3 overtime loss to Eagle on Jan. 6, and they're now dropped into third place in the Central Alberta Hockey League (CAHL).
However, Drayton Valley has two games to hand on both the front, facing Rocky Mountain House and second place Eagle. Flyers' record stands at eight wins, five losses and a tie after 14 games.
The local senior club had their game scheduled for Saturday against Bentley. Generals cancelled due to inclement weather. They have to make up that game, plus an earlier postponed contest with Eagle.

Oilmen's bonspiel draws 48 curling rinks

By Chris Shannahan
The 7th annual Pemmican Oilmen's Association bonspiel attracted 48 teams to the Drayton Valley Curling Rink on the weekend.

Major Bob Mayhew was on hand Friday morning to throw out the first rock at the official opening ceremony, while Fred Hines, president of the Pemmican Oilmen's Association, held the bowline.
After the mayor's traditional welcome, the curling kicked off and continued throughout the weekend.
In the first event held on Sunday evening, it was the Flyers & Associates risk downing D.V. Men to take the championship. The winning team was comprised of Dennis Francis, skip; Jack Bender, third; Glen Alexander, second; and Karl Schumann, lead.
Glen Hansen, skip; Keith

Fuhr, third; Dave Peterson, second; and Wm McDougall, lead, made up the D.V. team.
In the third event held, A&L Oldfield Construction came out on top over Hines, John Pauling was skip of the winner's risk, with Al Pashanski, third; Tony Truett, second; and Alex Bell, lead.

Minor Hockey Week

Next week is Minor Hockey Week in Drayton Valley, with activities running from Jan. 17 to 23.
Opening ceremonies will be held at noon on Sunday to kick off the minor hockey action.
Ken Gremm, a director with the Drayton Valley Minor Hockey Association, said 15 local teams will take part in various tournaments and exhibition matches throughout the week. Clubs ranging from mighty mile to midjet will take part, he added.
Gremm said the events will involve both house league and travelling teams, in an attempt to promote minor hockey in Drayton Valley.
Hockey organizers hope parents and fans will come out in full force to support the young players.

Curlers win unchallenged

By Grant Blackhead
Two Drayton Valley teams went to Whitecourt last weekend to compete in the Northern Alberta Ladies Curling Association Zone 16 playdowns.

Representing the junior girls was the Deane's Skitchiki rink with Jackie Urthrysh, third; Kimmie Bergey, second; and Jackie Hestrich, lead. The girls were fortunate as the Junior and Hestrich risks both coughed as the last minutes because of poor weather conditions.

As a result, Drayton Valley won the same unchanged. They will now advance to the Northern Alberta District Girls' Playdowns at the Royal Glenora Club in Edmonton on Jan. 28, 30 and 31.

The senior ladies, skipped by Edie Dusterhoft, were not as fortunate, as they dropped a close one to Stony Plain in their first game. They then went into the B side of the double knock-out competition.

The Drayton Valley ladies bounced back in their second game to beat Spruce Grove, only to be eliminated by Whitecourt in their third game. Other members of the Drayton Valley rink were Lohy Mohr, third; Joan Proder, second; and Ev Horvath, lead.

Traveling to Jasper to compete in the TBA women's competition was the Ron Proder rink of Hinton, Urthrysh, third; Ted Tucker, second; and Lee Tucker, lead.

Amazons

Take consolation final

Frank Madden's Amazons won the consolation final with a 60-21 victory over Spruce Grove at a high school basketball tournament in St. Albert, last Saturday.

In their first game against Solihull, Amazons played well in the first quarter, but then seemed to lose control of the momentum, and took a 4-18 loss.

Many turnovers, foul trouble, and poor offensive execution were Frank Madden's main problems in the first quarter. They at last picked up 22 shots from the floor and hit on just 35 per cent of those.

The fact it was Amazons' first game in four weeks might have had something to do with the girls' lack of sharpness and intensity. Top scorers were Sharon Tuck with seven points and Heather Germaine and Roseanne Lemmeyer, each with six.

Drayton Valley took on New Norway in their second game, and the girls played a much more aggressive style. Halit is not been for poor shooting," Amazons noted.

The team played a strong defensive game. They at last picked up 22 shots from the floor and hit on just 35 per cent of those.

Lamplighters show hustle in win over Oilers

Lamplighters showed some good hockey on Jan. 6.

Getzinger's tie Camrose

By Chris Shashank
Getzinger's Arie Body and Camrose Pirates battled to a 2-2 tie in minor hockey action on Sunday at the arena.

Getzinger's new has a record of five wins, six losses and four ties to match with the first year of the division of the North Central Minor Hockey Association.

The two clubs played some excellent hockey, and it wasn't until late in the first period Drayton Valley was able to break the tie on an unassisted goal by Doug Basso. They had dropped to take a 4-4 win over Camrose Oilers in a exhibition oilmen's game.

John Bingham led the way behind another a minute earlier when Camrose broke a 1-1 tie.

Drayton Valley's first goal came from John Bingham on an assist by James Manning.

Getzinger's coach Jim Jackson said while the team "has played better," he was generally pleased with their performance. He pointed out in particular the strong effort of Bingham and Greg Pankewich, as well as goalie Dennis Anderson and Danny Deschamps, who each played half a game.

Johnson said with better practice hours in the new

The contest marked the return of 163 Hestriches, Lyle McGinn and Dennis McGinn to the Lamplighter lineup. The three had been out some time after being involved in a car accident.

At McDonald played a strong game in goal for Drayton Valley and Ron Dain was a standout on defense. Hestrich played well at the forward position.

Lamplighters played a local men's recreational game on Jan. 7 and came away with a 5-1 victory. Goals came from Mark Dain with two and Hestrich with one. Dain and Hestrich were the top scorers.

Defencemen Ron Dain and Lorne Spady put in strong performances to lead Lamplighters behind the blinds.

Hill Open
The local hill and badly opened on the weekend, and many snow enthusiasts were out trying the slopes. Conditions were reported fairly in some areas, but the hill is generally in good shape. If the weather doesn't get too hot, skiing should be full speed ahead for the rest of the winter.

There will be a grand opening of the new Breton Civic Centre at 8 p.m. on Jan. 29. Several dignitaries will be present at this opening and everyone is welcome to attend.

There will be a talent show and family dance at the Breton Community Centre on Jan. 29 at 7:30 p.m. To enter, send your name, address and phone number along with a $5 entry fee to The Chaplin.

Only the first 20 entries will be accepted. The purpose of the show is to encourage young entertainers, as it is open to students, adults only. However, accompanists may be of any age.

The Breton kindergarten is holding a pet hot supper for the kindergarten families on Jan. 13 at 6:30 p.m.

Jan. 4 Mr. Laurie Fawcett took nine students to Calgary to watch three games of basketball.

The Breton Talent Show annual meeting will be held on Jan. 19 at the Breton High School.

The weekend of Dec. 28 a cutting team from Breton entered in the school boys' Christmas banquet held in Edmonton. These boys were sponsored by Ray Ellis; they included lead Tim Ellis, titled Wade Freeman, second Ken Reid and lead Ken Jackson. There were over 40 teams entered and the competition was keen, but the boys managed to win two out of three.

There will be no church services at the Breton United Church on Jan. 17. Instead there will be a morning worship at St. Paul's Mission followed by a pot luck dinner for anyone wishing to attend.

The Pussini card party on Jan. 6 had the following winners: men's high Allen Freeman, men's low Betty Tyson, ladies' high Kathleen Ellis, ladies' low Pearl Babin. Travelling prize went to Bill Babin and the grand prize was won by Allen Freeman.

The next card party is to be held at Pussini on Jan. 26.

Get well wishes are extended to Alfred Jackson who is a patient in the Breton General Hospital. The Ray Ellis' had Dave and Debbie Ellis and boys; Esther and Lorraine Ellis.

and family: Marvin and Elizabeth Long and Mary Sublett at their home for Christmas day.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Long entertained Ray, Janet and The Ellis, Charles Long and Mary Sublett for New Year's dinner.

Travelling is extended to the Ellis family on the death of Shirley's father, Lloyd Wanda of Calgary, who died Dec. 31 at the age of 71 years.

Jan and Julia Land were supper guests of Ray and Janet Ellis on Jan. 5.

Mr. and Mrs. Rod Hanson and children of Fort McMurray spent Christmas with Ray's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hanson, and Mrs. Elaine's mother, Lyle Tyne and other family members.

The following is a list of contributions to the Breton Community Centre for the month of December:

MAURICE BAKER reports that members of the Breton Community Centre have donated a total of 25 Christmas cards to the Breton Community Centre. These cards are very good, both content and presentation. They are a wonderful reminder of the Breton Community Centre.

LARRY GOSSET another contributor has donated a total of 25 Christmas cards to the Breton Community Centre. These cards are very good, both content and presentation. They are a wonderful reminder of the Breton Community Centre.

Your input is wanted

By Lyle Peterson
Librarian

During 1981, the Drayton Valley municipal library has made the following services available to all patrons:

* open six days per week
* book clubs return assemble 24 hours daily

* loan period extended to three weeks
* two-day period of extra hours
* weekly newsletters of overdue books

After all these improvements, our major problem still is to serve books and mostly from adult patrons. Not children, not students, but adults.

Perhaps you are saying to yourself, "so what's the big deal about overdue books?" The big deal is this: your library operates on a very slim budget—no profits, minimal staffing, and donated "material" to improve the appearance and atmosphere of the library.

We are attempting to provide you with a good library service—the best possible on a carefully determined budget. It costs time (staff time equals wages), stationary and postage, phone calls—some of which are long distance—all to serve overdue books.

Some patrons seem to think that we, at the library, charge fees as a means of "yanking" or "pulling" fines actually mean more work for staff. These are also the only practical method available to ensure the rights of the majority of patrons from whom by those who think they are above rules and regulations.

Given the borrowing habits of some patrons, even it is not infrequently such as the, the absence of your library would be empty—and stay empty.

In an effort to apply the user-pays theory to the cost of recovering overdue books, your library board is proposing to increase the fine rate to 25 cents per day in 1982. Let's face it, the current rate doesn't even buy the postage stamp for a overdue notice!

As a library patron, you have until Jan. 28, 1982, to express your views regarding this proposed increase. The Drayton Valley municipal library board welcomes your written comments.

Do fill out the questionnaire available at the library or write to the board (c/o Box 2000, D.V.). Don't complete it the library staff (do you also believe the check-out girl at the local grocery store is responsible for determining the cost of your groceries)?

The library board determines policies. Please direct your comments to the board.

Patrons to Ponder

* If you co-operate by returning books on time, why should you be penalized for someone less considerate? Everyone can forget once in a while. We are not talking about the occasional late book. We are talking of constant abuse of library privileges.

* Do you agree with being ripped off by the person who is too negligent or lazy to return books? You are being ripped off because someone spent trading overdue books to spend to bring you new titles and services.

* Who should pay for the material losses of the library? Should we publish a list of chronic offenders and those who ignore notice week after week?

* Do you really care about the lack of library service you get? We do! The library represents culture in our community. It has the potential to enhance the daily lives of all members of this community.

The library board welcomes your written comments. Please fill out the questionnaire about January 27, the deadline for comments is Jan. 27.

Truck causes outrage

Lights in the western portion of Drayton Valley flickered briefly and then went out early last Sunday night. The 30-minute power outage affected homes and businesses in the industrial section, the Millmont and McKenna areas as well as West Valley Park.

According to Mary Paula of TransAlta Utilities, the problem occurred when a truck with a high load backed onto a power line west of Drayton Valley and pulled it off.

The problem was soon repaired.

Arete Mime troupe to visit Drayton Valley

By Rosemary Crossley

It is an ancient art, one which over the years has taken on a myriad of forms. At times it is composed of beautiful, choreographed, wandering minstrels, acrobats, harlequins and Pierrots, however, today it is more simply known as mime. Drayton Valley will be one of several stops for Arete Mime, a Calgary-based group which performs a blend of traditional and contemporary mime. The performance is set for the 8:00 p.m. at Jan. 18.

The troupe, which was formed in 1976, is made up of Kevin McFarland, Randy Breen and Don Spivey. These three Canadians have worked together over the past five years, in an effort to show mime as an art form that can be both entertaining and easy to understand.

Performances include a variety of skills such as acrobatics, magic, juggling, gymnastics and improvisation.

In 1981 the group was named one of 18 winners in the "de Masseur Search for the Best" contest. As a winning entry Arete was awarded a $2,000 cash bonus from the de Masseur Council for the Performing Arts, and will be featured in a CBC television special this spring.

Tickets for the Drayton Valley performance may be obtained at $8 apiece from the DNV Confectionery or from members of Drayton Valley Preschool.

Council cancels light plans

The following items were discussed at last week's regular meeting of council in Drayton Valley:

- A decision to allow the local art centre, in conjunction with other organizations, to work on the establishment of a permanent village range. Council approved the motion after discussion on updating the safety aspects of this project.

- A decision to cancel a street lighting program between the towns and Towns of Alberta. At this time, the town is using 500-watt street lights. Mayor John Mayhew noted several aspects of the preliminary plan concerning the location of power poles were not acceptable to council, and Towns will refund the $10,000 spent on the project to date.
- The appointment of two employees. Deputy Clerk, Robert, the salaried clerk, is to be paid $10,000 per year. The salaried clerk, Robert, is to be paid $10,000 per year. The salaried clerk, Robert, is to be paid $10,000 per year.

an adult presenter would have an additional safety factor in the evening, and instructed staff to implement the plan as soon as possible.

Mr. Corbett will spend roughly an hour per day, Monday through Friday, helping at the evening, while the town continues to pay his salary under the annual contract of this project.

BENEFITS For Injured Workers

employed in industries included under The Alberta Workers' Compensation Act

WILL BE INCREASED

Effective January 1, 1982

MAXIMUM ANNUAL EARNINGS $40,000 per year
Wage loss benefits will be based on the worker's gross earnings from all sources related to employment up to a maximum of $40,000 per year.

MAXIMUM COMPENSATION FOR TOTAL DISABILITY 90% of net earnings
For accidents on or after January 1, 1982, Compensation will be 90 per cent of net wages as defined in the Regulations to the Workers' Compensation Act.

MINIMUM TOTAL PERMANENT-DISABILITY PENSION $675.00 per month
All existing disability pensions will be increased by 10 per cent. The minimum pension for total permanent disability will be $675.00 per month. A supplementary pension is paid for permanent partial disability.

SPOUSAL PENSIONS
For those workers on or after January 1, 1982, payment of spousal pension to spouses will no longer be automatic. Payment of pensions will be made for a decreasing time scale term. If children are involved, pensions will be payable until the 15th birthday of the last child. Pensions will be paid on term pensions, and where necessary, will be repaid.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO EMPLOYERS

The new maximum assessable individual earnings is $40,000 per annum, effective January 1, 1982.

The term "proprietor" has been defined in the Act to ensure there is a clear distinction between a person who is a bona fide "proprietor" and a person who is a "worker". The definition of "independent operator" has been deleted from the Act. Individuals who had personal coverage as "independent operators" prior to January 1, 1982, may not be entitled to personal coverage as "proprietors" as the new definition of a "proprietor" is more restrictive than the definition of "independent operator" in the previous Act. If you have questions concerning this change, please contact the Assessment Department of the nearest W.C.B. office.

Waters of the Christmas drove at the village stores were Arlene Tuck, a food hamper, Sandy Broadbent, a turkey, Pat Wasko, a food hamper, and Mary Cogan, a piglet stuffed toy.

Ed and Betty Jo had motored to Delahoué to spend the Christmas holidays at the home of Harvey and Jean Stevens, Betty's parents.

Valuing at the home of Leonard and Norma John for Christmas were Norma's mother, Jean Payne of Drayton, and her sister Linda Payne of Edmonton, also her sister, Mary Young and Evelyn Rhoades, both of Edmonton.

Norma and Mary Jo had their family at home for the holidays. Randy, Terry and the girls came from Corralville, Allen came from Wilkerson.

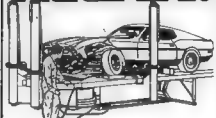

Walter Arty was a patient at the local hospital, then stayed at his daughter Dorcas Bolmer's home for a few days before coming home.

After Christmas company at the John Sids home were Margaret's brother George Sidsen and wife Betty from Minneapolis, Ont., and their daughter Margaret Sidsen who lives in Red Deer.

The regular meeting of the Drayton OORP was held Dec. 31 with 17 members present. Honoured royal lady Lucille Jackson chaired the meeting.

It was announced that the next meeting will be held on Monday on April 24 with the host lady in charge of registration, opening contributions and the closing ceremony. Committees were set up to look after various details pertaining to the district meeting.

It was also announced that the grand lodge convention will be held in South St. Mary from July 25 to 28, in was voted to put a $25 ad in the convention booklet. The new year event was given by the honored royal lady.

Sympathy of the lodge was extended to the McCall family on the death of pool. Your outstanding patronage would be greatly appreciated by the individual clubs.

OORP gives fire donation

By Betty Strangway
Let's start off with a happy New Year to everyone from all of us.

Our first meeting of 1982 was held Jan. 5, with only eight ladies.

Our hearts go out to the Rogers family with the loss of their home and belongings in a fire New Year's Eve. The OORP gave the family a donation, hoping it will help to some way.

Our annual Christmas dinner which supper was a real success with 40 attending. Our prizes were won by Annabelle Taylor and Mr. Fyfe.

The Christmas Bazaar was well attended. The proceeds were used for the OORP. We are now the little bit in great Christmas spirit.

Our OORP ladies Christmas party was an enjoyable night, and 40 ladies in all attended. Entertainment included one play by Pat Bridges and Janis Gilbert; another play by Betty Strangway and Betty Strangway; a song by Betty Strangway; a kitchen band led by Wina Tully and games of bingo were played.

Kids yoga

By Linda Givens
The older children, back to school, but the preschoolers are still around demanding attention every one soon attempts to do any exercise. Instead of giving up, your child by your own little exercise partner.

Here are some yoga exercises to give your five-year-old daughter enjoys along with me.

The hand and peak forward bend is a favorite. For this one, you stand back to back about one foot apart. Keep your feet shoulder width apart. Both arms and feet bend forward at the same time, and pull at one another between your legs.

The middle to what makes this an enjoyable posture. Keep your knees straight, and attempt to place the palms on the floor. Hold the posture for several seconds, then return to your starting position. Repeat two or three times.

For the one-ear sit-up, lie on your back with the feet bent and arms straight above the knees. Lift hands facing each other. As you sit up, the child lies back, and as you lie back, the child sits up.

Repeat five or six times with a smooth continuous motion. This exercise strengthens and firms the abdomen.

To equalize the forward bend, do a back bend. Lie face down, with the feet bent and arms straight above the head. Stretch the arms up overhead, and raise the head and chest as high as possible.

Make three swimming breast strokes with the arms, before lowering the chest and head. Repeat, then change so that you are holding down the child's legs while he or she does the swimming. This exercise strengthens the lower back, and firms the buttocks.

When doing yoga together, make it a fun time for both, but do each exercise or posture getting the best stretch or bend you can.

Legion donates

By Mary Cumming
When the Executive branch of the Royal Canadian Legion met at its meeting on Jan. 4, a resolution was passed to donate $1,000 to the P.E. 1000 Agriculture and Horticulture Society.

When the annual luncheon was held in Edmonton later this month, the Legion and the Auxiliary will jointly donate $1,000.

There was also a decision that in the future a newsletter will be sent out every two months to members of the Auxiliary.

Winter driving you crazy?

Sun spots beckon

By Maude Dick

Are you fed up to the teeth with our current cold weather snarl? Have you poured your last bottle of gasoline into your car, only to have the hose refuse to start?

If winter's got you down, take heart. There's actually a way out of the deep freeze, if you've got the money to spend and the time to take a little trip to bask in the sun.

A number of other local residents have already discovered that the best way to beat winter is not to fight it. They've joined the increasing numbers who plan a little vacation at this time of year—a break to winter's monotony and a chance to get a head start on this year's season.

We checked with four of Drayton Valley's travel agencies Monday to see how business has been during the past few weeks of frigid temperatures, and they're all reporting a booming trade in tickets to take you away from it all.

"I've been going crazy here," said Dwight Denton at Drayton Valley Travel Ltd. His big sellers at the moment include Arizona, ever-popular, Las Vegas, Florida and Hawaii. People are taking advantage of the relatively low prices to take their trips, he added, and some "even travel—we're here doing a lot of tickets through cooler and bus for people who want to leave as soon as they can."

The March spring break will be a busy time for family tours to Disneyland, he noted, and people are also looking for cruises to Mexico and the Caribbean. There's also a number of winter enthusiasts taking advantage of all sorts, with Lake Tahoe, Banff and Jasper leading as popular resort areas.

A sun spot trend is the CruiseWorld Travel Ltd. office recently prompted an man to say he wanted to go to where this photo was taken, said Bill Wallace, and he'd had quite a few others in the office who are seeking the warmer climates. Big sales now include trips to Phoenix, Hawaii, the Fiji Islands, "and Las Vegas is like a Cinderella story in January and February," he added.

Cruises to the Caribbean and Mexico are so, he noted, and Florida attractions like Disneyworld are proving popular for some travellers. People are being more selective in choosing their ski vacations "so everybody in the family can go," he said, with popular resorts being Jasper, Sunshine Village, Banff, Lake Louise and the U.S. locations like Lake Tahoe and Big Mountain, Montana.

Pat Stubbs at Terra Travel says business has been great, with trips to the Caribbean and Hawaii ranking high as old standards for getting out of the cold. "We don't have as many going to Florida, but Disneyland is proving popular for families and honeymooners," she noted.

Another unusual vacation spot for some would be a trip to Cuba, but Mrs. Stubbs reports these are rapidly selling out. Other popular spots include Phoenix, Mexico, Las Vegas, and others are taking off to the slopes at Whitefish, Montana, Lake Tahoe and Sun Valley, Idaho.

Many travellers are looking for the best that are "cheer and not too expensive," said Donna Walkowiak at Miller Book and Travel Agency. Trips to Hawaii and Mexico are popular, but the offers around Drayton Valley are also marketing out areas like Palm Spring to hone their skills for the local greens.

A few people are looking at trips to the Texas coast, she noted, and the ski crowds are heading to Big White in Montana and Kolumba to hit the slopes. Others are doing a side business, with people representing a lot of interest in the Mexican coast, after the television show of the same name—for trips to the Marlin coast and through the Caribbean.

With trips and more like the ones being offered through our local agencies, one wonders why we still around for winter!

Town considers future land annexations

By Maude Dick

The Jan. 1 annexation of hundreds of square miles of land to the City of Edmonton has proved a hot topic of discussion for local officials.

As council looks into the possibilities and drawbacks of adding more territory to Drayton Valley's borders.

It's a topic council has discussed several times in the past, before, noted Mayor Rob Mayhew, and it's one the County of Parkland has encouraged to support long-term growth of the town.

"The county is trying to encourage development in some areas," Towns of these spots are not too far from the water and sewer service," he noted, "and if they were annexed the town would have to take on the responsibility for this service."

The town would also be responsible for upgrading roads in the annexed territory, he added, as well as for more services in the larger area. "We have to sit back and weigh if an annexation would be practical, what these taxes are considered."

Mayor Mayhew said the town is interested in annexation to bring in persons from the surrounding communities who are making use of local recreation, cultural and landfill facilities. "We've pleased to have them come in and use them, but we aren't getting any funds for the shot," he added. The provincial Municipal Affairs department is aware of town discussions, Mayor Mayhew said, and would be presently awaiting the government's reaction to the proposal.

Recent cold weather has meant an increasing number of auto thefts in the Drayton Valley area. According to local RCMP, three vehicles have been stolen during the past two weeks.

The latest of these thefts occurred early on the morning of Jan. 12 when a truck was stolen from the parking lot at the Black Gold Inn.

Black Revenue of Hamilton Services reported the theft. The vehicle had been left running and was unlocked when the incident occurred.

The truck was recovered the same day in a ditch near Rocky Rapids.

The theft was similar to the previous two in that all the vehicles appeared to have been stolen primarily for the purpose of joy riding.

RCMP are warning people leaving vehicles running to keep two sets of keys so that they can lock the vehicle and secure it from theft.
